

Hiding in Plain Sight: Uncovering Nuclear Histories

Table of Contents

Chapter 1: Robert Anderson, “Introduction to Hiding in Plain Sight: Uncovering Nuclear Histories”	1
Chapter 2: Laurel MacDowell, “NIRG and Nuclearism in the Era of Climate Change”	5
Chapter 3: Greg Donaghy, “Hiding in Plain Sight: Canadian Nuclear Diplomacy since 1945”	14
Chapter 4: Paul Meyer, “Back to the Future: Nuclear Archives and the Working Diplomat”	16
Chapter 5: Michael Stevenson, “Nuclear Secrets and Interpretations of the Diefenbaker Government’s Demise, 1962-63”	24
Chapter 6: Nancy Teeple, “Use of Archives in Nuclear Arms Control and Disarmament Research”	34
Chapter 7: John O’Brian, “Nuclear Archives and Photography”	37
Chapter 8: Claude-Yves Charron, “The Rashomon Effect in Risk Communication during and after Fukushima’s Daiichi Nuclear Accident: From Lessons Learned to Areas of Future Research”	40
Chapter 9: Sachiyo Kanzaki, “Mining the Mining Archives”	60
Chapter 10: Marissa Bell, “Navigating a Nuclear Past Where Archives Are Missing”	71
Chapter 11: Sarah Fox, “Listening to the Radiogenic Community Archive”	80
Chapter 12: Lindsey Freeman, “Sociologist-Spy in the Atomic Archive”	87
Chapter 13: Linda Richards, “Reproducing the Techno-Nuclear State in Washington State and Ontario”	90
Chapter 14: Svitlana Matviyenko, “The Subject of Territory: The Body-Archive after Chernobyl”	98
Chapter 15: Prerna Gupta, “Looking for Research Alternatives in the Face of Secrecy”	111
Chapter 16: MV Ramana, “The Inaccessible Archive”	117
Chapter 17: Robert Anderson, “Slow Release: Multi-Generational Understandings of Two Open “Incidents” in the Closed Nuclear Files”	123

List of Authors